Florida Civics Literacy Exam: Approaching the Four Competencies and Addressing the Instructional Challenges

Friday, September 8, 5:00pm-9:00pm &
Saturday, September 9, 7:15am-4:30pm

The Jack Miller Center, Lou Frey Institute, and Sphere Education Initiatives will feature constitutional and pedagogy scholars who will discuss the core content of the competencies and methods of addressing it with students.

This two day program is for social studies supervisors and one of their teachers. The program will be held at the University of Central Florida's College of Community Innovation and Education's Morgridge Reading Center and Teaching Academy.

Invitees will receive free books and materials, as well as a $200.00 stipend.

The program will begin at 5:00pm, Friday, September 8, with a reception and sit down dinner, followed by a keynote address by:

Dr. Scott M. Waring

Professor and Program Coordinator of Social Science Education
Director of Library of Congress' Teaching with Primary
Sources Program
University of Central Florida

Saturday, September 9, will be in the Teaching Academy from 7:15am-4:30pm, and feature the scholars and speakers as they engage the audience through panels and small group discussions. Breakfast and lunch will be provided.
